PROENERGY WELCOMES NEW COO

SEDALIA, Mo. (August 31, 2016) – ProEnergy is pleased to announce that Travis Simpson has joined ProEnergy as Chief Operating Officer. He will be responsible for day-to-day operational details to ensure continued growth and success.

Travis brings over 25 years of leadership experience delivering operational results and building high performing cross functional teams. This includes serving as Operations Manager for GE Healthcare and later COO for GE Clinical Services. He spent several years at Dell, Inc. as VP of Corporate Business Group Sales & Service Operations and VP of North Carolina Operations. Most recently he served as Area President for Republic Services responsible for operations across five states. Travis earned his B.S. in Electrical Engineering from Texas Tech University.

“Travis is execution focused and has a great deal of experience offering solutions on operational issues,” said ProEnergy’s CEO, Jeff Canon. “His strong leadership and decision making skills make him an important asset to support our continued commitment to operational excellence.”

ProEnergy is responsible for the construction, management, operations, maintenance, and repair services for energy generation facilities and equipment around the world. ProEnergy has U.S. offices in Sedalia, Missouri; Houston, Texas; and Fort Collins, Colorado; and international locations in a number of countries including Canada, Argentina, Mexico, Venezuela, Brazil, Panama, Pakistan and Angola.
